Pakistan’s problems can only be solved through real people’s representatives..?

The WISE MAN " IMRAN KHAN " said again..

USPA NEWS - All of Pakistan’s problems can only be solved through real people’s representatives – unite the country instead of breaking it up like in 1971!!

Balochistan is also currently ruled by a fake government, how can it solve the problems? As a Pakistani and former Prime Minister, I am deeply concerned about the situation in Balochistan. I am very sorry for the increasing incidents of terrorism, shooting, torture and arrest of unarmed people who are peacefully protesting - it is the duty of the state to listen to the voice of the people of Balochistan and solve their problems. Unless the real representatives there are brought together, their problems will not be heard and decisions are not made keeping in mind the will of the people there, the problem of Balochistan will not be solved. Problems are never solved by force of force, but rather they get worse.

The orderly government imposed through Form 47 has failed on every front. Their foreign policy is the worst. You can move towards controlling terrorism by talking to Afghanistan - we have a 2200 km border with Afghanistan. Issues with them should be resolved peacefully through talks. Our government talked to Afghanistan, although the then Afghan government did not have good relations with Pakistan - thanks to the policy we adopted with Afghanistan during our three and a half years of rule, terrorism in the country had become absolutely zero. After us, the adoption of Joe Biden's policy created many problems, the consequences of which the people are suffering today in the form of terrorism. Their lack of seriousness can be gauged from the fact that neither during the PDM era nor now, the Foreign Minister visited Afghanistan even once, nor were any proper diplomatic efforts made.
After the 26th Constitutional Amendment, the judiciary system has completely collapsed. My pre-arrest bail case in the false cases of May 9 was to be heard by a bench of the Lahore High Court after many months, but that bench was dissolved so that these cases could be dragged out further.

The hearing of the Toshakhana case, in which a jail trial is underway, has been stopped without giving any reason. Earlier, the verdict in the Al-Qadir Trust case was hung only so that my case could be tried before the judges of choice who will be brought to the Islamabad High Court through the court packing process. After much difficulty, our case was tried there, but today, objections have been filed on our appeal and it has been postponed until after Eid. It is clear from all this that the aim of the Ordali government is to keep me in jail at all costs because whenever my cases are heard on merit, they are razed to the ground. All this is a fixed match that is being played under a well-planned plan.

Instead of focusing on their work and stopping terrorism, the institutions are focusing on cracking down on PTI and controlling the media, jails and courts. Adiala Jail is being controlled by a colonel. What authority does a colonel have to sit in jail and control the jail? This week, I was not allowed to meet my sisters either. Despite various court orders, I am not allowed to meet friends, talk to my children on the phone, have no access to my diary or access to books. I am allowed to meet my political colleagues only once in 6 months, and that too not at the fixed time and day. Sometimes some restrictions are imposed, sometimes none.

"No matter how hard they try, I have never bowed down to their fascism, nor will I bow down now."
